SJC SOCIAL JUSTICE INITIATIVE

The Supreme Judiciary Council serves as the judicial branch of UPKY, dedicated to upholding justice, promoting equity, and safeguarding the rights and cultural heritage of the Chashah-Tegaru people through legal advocacy, policy development, and cultural preservation.

SJC Commission §

Advance social justice and equity for the Chashah-Tegaru community by:

- Safeguarding our cultural heritage through robust legal frameworks
- Advocating against discrimination and systemic inequities
- Ensuring fair and culturally-sensitive dispute resolution
- Promoting policies that protect our community's rights and interests
- Fostering intergenerational knowledge transfer and cultural continuity

SJC is a guardian of Chashah-Tegaru traditions, laws, and spiritual practices. Established in 2015, the SJC is composed of dedicated legal professionals, community elders, and cultural experts committed to preserving our heritage and advancing the rights of our people.

SJC Trajectory §

SJC is the ground work for Chashah-Tegaru values and traditions, emphasizing:

- Cultural preservation as the foundation for justice and community wellbeing
- Intergenerational wisdom in decision-making processes
- Contemplative practices to promote healing and reconciliation
- Community-centered solutions and inclusive dialogue

SJC Initiatives §

- Uphold and interpret Chashah laws and traditions to resolve disputes fairly
- Advocate for the rights and wellbeing of Chashah-Tegaru people, especially those impacted by conflict or marginalization
- Develop and recommend policies that promote social justice and equity

SJC Disposition §

We strive to create a justice system that truly reflects the values, needs, and aspirations of the Chashah-Tegaru people. Rooted in our rich cultural heritage and contemporary legal practices, we work to build a future where our community thrives, our traditions are honored, and justice is administered with wisdom, compassion, and cultural understanding.

Judiciary Coalitions §

We build alliances with:

- First Nation communities in New Mexico who share our commitment to preserving traditional justice systems
- Indigenous rights organizations protecting cultural heritage
- Cultural preservation societies dedicated to protecting traditional practices

Join us on our mission to create a more just and inclusive society that honors and defends our cultural legacy. Together we are the custodians of guarding our heritage that is rooted in wisdom, Ethereal safety, dignity and continuity of our people.
